Other Experience

My name is Sunny Chae but everyone knows me as "Mama Sunny". I have worked in the entertainment industry for 40 years behind the scenes as a manager and retired this year to celebrate turning 60! I have made it a goal to pursue my passions, including modeling and acting. Even though I have retired as a manager, I am still working as a consultant for talent, as I realized that there are so many people who need guidance on how to achieve their dreams. I am also still heavily active in international celebrity endorsements for Korea, Japan and China.

My heart wants to give back to our community and I have seen the growing problem of homelessness in Los Angeles, particularly in the Asian community. As a way to give back, I started a non profit organization, the Rejoice in Hope Foundation www.rejoiceinhope.org where I serve women and children who are homeless across the US. The foundation has local level ambassadors across 29 states in the US who serve in their local communities. We not only collect donations but teach people young and old how to give back to their communities through volunteering and creating events. Every summer, the Foundation holds a talent showcase charity gala with musical performers and variety acts where we bring the ambassadors together to share their testimonies and encourage new ambassadors to reach out and make a difference.

I have over 70,000 followers on Facebook and continue to educate people on how to create a better world.
